Zoning Hearing Board Report: Councilwoman Samson reported that Harveys Lake Zoning. Board held their regular meeting on October 6, 2008. There were four variance hearings scheduled for that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones had continued their hearing from last month. However, no one attended the meeting. The board tabled the hearing until they could be reached.

The second hearing was a continuance for Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Caron at Pole 59. The Carons want to build a deck that will require a 14 foot variance. Neighbors objected to the request as they felt the Carons would at a later date enclose the deck and make the deck into another room. The Board said they wanted to see the property and met ahead of time for a site visit before making a decision. They met with the contractor, Michael Dombroski, and the neighbors prior to the meeting. After the contractor showed everyone what he was doing, the neighbors withdrew their opposition to the plan. The variance request was granted.

The next hear was for a Mr. Austin. He wanted to add a first floor bathroom and to extend his front deck. This would bring the home too close to the property line. None of his neighbors objected, so his variance was granted.

Finally, there was a request for a retaining wall from Jeff Doggett. After discussing the plan, his request was granted.

EAC: Councilwoman Dwyer reported that on Tuesday, November 8, EAC held their regular meeting. The main discussion was on the requests made to the Susquehanna River Basin Commission regarding the water usage for drilling natural gas. EAC is firmly against any water being taken out of Harveys Lake and discussion centered on ways to safeguard the water.
